John H. Puellicher

NEW YORK—John H. Puellicher of Milwaukee, widely known in Wisconsin banking circles today was elected president of the American Bankers' association.

At the meeting of the Republican State Central committee held at the state capitol this morning for organization purposes, the following officers were elected:

Chairman, Miss Ada James, Richmond Center.

Treasurer, Gustave Dick, Milwaukee.

Secretary, Mrs. Mollie Weidell, Superior.

Assistant Secretary, E. J. Onstad, Madison.

Robert M. La Follette, Jr., newly-elected chairman, presided over the meeting.

The first question to come before the committee was whether or not the meeting should be open to the public. A. A. Lowell, Rhinelander, and William T. Evjue, Madison, favored open sessions. H. E. G. Kemp, Boscobel, R. N. Hellen, Jefferson, and Gustave Dick, Milwaukee, favored executive sessions.

On the first ballot, the vote was 15 to 15 and on the second ballot, the committee voted in favor of executive sessions by 18 to 15.

When the committee adjourned at noon, reports were being received by congressional districts on congressional districts in the state. F. W. Schoenfeld and W. H. Armstrong, Racine, responded to the first district. They stated that the great problem in the coming campaign would be to get out the votes. Because of the overwhelming vote at the primary and the failure of the Democrats to get on the ticket, the great problem will be to overcome the apathy that now prevails.

R. N. Nelson of Jefferson argued that by making the election a testimonial by Wisconsin voters on their desire for La Follette as president, that a large vote could be brought out. Otto Gaffron of Plymouth maintained that if the vote comes out, La Follette's majority will be from 300,000 to 350,000.

Sol Levitan, candidate for state treasurer, entertained the members of the committee at lunch at the Capitol Cafe at noon.

Thirty-three out of 44 members of the committee were in attendance at the meeting.

That Judge Henry Graess of Green Bay is planning to become an independent candidate for congress from the ninth congressional district, was the statement made here today by representatives of the ninth district in attendance at the republican state central committee.

It was stated that nomination papers are being circulated in behalf of Judge Graess at the present time.

George Schneider of Appleton, successful candidate on the republican ticket, was in Madison today.

DEMOCRAT TO RUN.

GREEN BAY—Charles J. Hanzel, mayor of Antigo, democratic nominee for congress from the ninth district, will run on an independent ticket if the supreme court decides not to place the democratic candidates on the November ballot.

It was announced here last night following a consultation of democratic leaders representing Langlade, Oconto, Outagamie and Brown counties.

BUREAU TO DIE?

Whether or not the Madison house rental bureau will be dropped at once or whether it will be allowed to die a natural death because of lack of need for such an organ during the winter months, will be decided at the meeting of the Madison Real Estate board at the Madison club Friday noon. The bureau is still functioning.

Flames Wipe out Settlers

Forest Fires Cross From Minnesota to Ravage Badger Farms

SUPERIOR, Wis. — Forest fires sweeping into Douglas county from across the Minnesota state line in the vicinity of Kangasdale have worked their way up the Spruce and Tamarack rivers to the vicinity of the Chaffey settlement, 35 miles south of Superior. The fires have already burned out the Ole Soverson farm and the George Corrigan farm, both south of Chaffey, with heavy loss. It is also feared that the farm of Ole Mattson, directly in the path of the blaze has been burned out. Nothing has been heard from Mattson for three days and there is apprehension as to his safety.

The families of Otto and Chas. Anderson whose homes are on highway 35 near Chaffey, fought the fire continually for 24 hours and finally managed to save their homes.

A small settlement at Spur 35, on the "So" Superior-Twin City line is believed to be safe. It is completely surrounded by fire.

The fires worked up to the very door of the farm home of John Hardmar, near Foxboro but heroic efforts on the part of himself and wife, who have fought the fire since Monday, finally halted the flames.

For a time it was feared that the fires would work into Manitowish, the state park, and that they would circle around the eastward and all danger to the park is believed past.

If the fires continue to work their way northward the big colony of summer cottages at Lake Amnicon is doomed.

James Naughton, state conservation warden, stated today that if the fire were to get into the heavy timber southwest of Lake Amnicon it would be impossible to check it.

DULUTH Minn.—Northern Minnesota's forest area this morning continued a veritable sea of smoke colored smoke, pulk-a-dotted with fires, many beyond control threatening further widespread destruction at the slightest provocation of the elements.

In St. Louis county alone there are 95 fires burning, according to the latest reports from Adjutant General Walter E. Rhinow, who is cooperating with the forestry department in the fire zone. A call for help was sent out late last night from Vineland, where it was declared the fire was out of control and already a settler's home had been burned and the entire town endangered. Additional forest fire fighters were asked for immediately.

1 DEAD, 6 BURNED

ABERDEEN, S. D.—Robert Gundert, 15, of Tolstoy is dead and six persons are burned, one probably fatally, as the result of a prairie fire which Tuesday afternoon swept through the town of Tolstoy, northward from Hoven, across Potter county on a three mile front, out through a corner of Walworth county and finally was brought to a stop at the town of Bowdle in Edmond county.

Propose Tax on Value of Automobiles

County Boards Urge Step To Raise Funds For Highway Costs

A two per cent highway privilege tax based on the valuation of automobiles is proposed by the legislative committee of the Wisconsin county boards' association as the principal means of raising funds to meet highway building costs, when the 1923 legislature takes up consideration of highway tax problems.

In a report completed today, the committee recommends that the legislature increase the fees charged motor tractors and busses to raise $1,000,000 annually, establish a two per cent privilege tax to raise $2,500,000, enact a gasoline tax of two cents on each gallon to raise $2,500,000, and maintain the present $10 license fee to raise $4,000,000. Total revenue of $10,500,000 would be realized through operation of these laws if enacted, the committee estimates.

"In general this program is not an increase over the present program, but its effect would be to shift $5,000,000 of state and county highway taxation now imposed upon real estate and real property to the motor vehicle owner," the committee says.

The committee was unanimously in favor of adding 2500 miles to the state trunk highway system bringing it to 10,000 miles by 1924. It proposed that the county trunk system should be increased to 20,000 miles of gravel and marked roads in Wisconsin.

Police today were seeking "wasday" gun thieves who entered two west side homes Monday and stole jewelry valued at a total of $700. The thefts were committed between 9 and 11 o'clock in the morning when mistresses of the household were engaged in washing in the basement.

A diamond ring, a brooch, two diamonds, and certificates of deposits for $200 and $250 each, were taken from the home of Jacob Krings, real estate dealer, 1830 Raleigh st. Doors of the house had been left open while Mrs. Krings was in the laundry.

The thieves obtained a platinum ring set with a diamond and a brooch at the home of O. H. Samples, 1906 Regent st. Mrs. Samples was also in the basement of the house.

Other thefts on west side houses are being investigated by police. Several of them have been in rooming houses.

Buildings to be erected include a morgue at the Mendota state asylum, a laundry building for the Soldiers' Home, Union Grove and a staff building for the disabled hospital at Fawcett point.

Contracts will be granted the Barnett Construction Co., Milwaukee, for the erection of the staff building. This structure will cost $18,544. This company will also receive the contract for the laundry building at the Soldiers' Home, at a cost of $23,390. The T. S. Willis Co., Janesville, was the lowest bidder on the morgue, their price being $6,079.

Lauds Harding Steps Toward U.S. Prosperity

Beveridge Opens G. O. P. Campaign in Ohio

COLUMBUS, O.—Whether the present economic system is to be developed by the republican party or revolutionized by the democratic party is the real issue of the times, declared Albert J. Beveridge, Indiana's republican senatorial nominee, in an address here Tuesday afternoon, opening the campaign of his party in Ohio. The republican party, Mr. Beveridge said, holds the theory that the present economic system is fundamentally sound and that American institutions are better than any existing or proposed plan of government.

An antagonistic theory, he said, is held by a conglomeration of political elements made up of the larger fragment of the democratic party, socialist organization and ex-communicated radicals, who are convinced that our whole economic system is fundamentally wrong and that American institutions are antiquated and inadequate. The selection of one of these two theories is the profound and elemental issue of the times, Mr. Beveridge said.

Mr. Beveridge's address inaugurating the campaign of the Ohio republicans was made at the request of President Harding, and in his opening remarks he declared that the president's administration has made progress unequalled and unapproached during the same time by that of any other existing government. He added that until prosperity is fully restored a republican congress is as indispensable as a republican president.

"The sound principles of government regulation of nation-wide business activities," Mr. Beveridge said, "that exploitation of the people shall be prevented, but during the Wilson regime this sound principle of government regulation was extended to the point of governmental interference with the most minute details of transportation and trade of production and exchange. Working on the theory that most business men are scoundrels at heart, with no idea of serving the public but intent only on robbing the public, the Wilson regime enacted restrictive laws, established meddling bureaus, and did everything that anybody could think of to burden business and hamper commerce."

"A republican president and congress have already made some necessary alterations in this anti-business and prosperity paralyzing Wilsonian national tax system, and will further steps in the same direction will be taken until business is so relieved that industry and trade can once more go forward, freely and at full vigor."

Uncle Joe Likes Bumps

Remind Him of Life

WASHINGTON — With an old slouch hat cocked on the side of his head, Uncle Joe Cannon started out by automobile today for Danville, Ill., traveling over the old National Pike his parents took 83 years ago in emigrating westward. The veteran legislator was full of pep as he stepped into his car, and the capital and told Lester Morris, for ten years his chauffeur and for his companion on the trip to "give her the gas." He waved the old hat, reached for a cigar and smiled. Just before leaving Mr. Cannon received a telegram from H. R. Franklin, the automobile manufacturer at Syracuse offering to send down his best car and crack driver but he declined.

"This old car is good enough for me and I like to ride with Lester," he said. "I ride most of the way on the front seat with Lester so the wind shield and this sweater vest will protect me" he said. "I don't like the soft seats. When I ride in the back of the car I usually occupy the folding chair. I like the bumps at 87 years for they remind me of life."

Wisconsin Zinc Mining

Aided by New Research

How the zinc mines of southwestern Wisconsin may secure a larger return from low grade ore is being studied in a series of important experiments now in progress in the mining and metallurgical laboratories of the Wisconsin college of engineering.

During the past year important work has been in progress on the reclamation of large amounts of zinc sulphide ores that are now lost. The flotation process has been studied with a view to applying it to the fine ores that are now lost in the flinging process.

Exterminating flies with a swatter is like trying to empty the Atlantic Ocean with a dipper.

Father Makes Vain Attempt To Save Son From Monona

The attempt of Milton Buchanan, 784 W. Main st., to rescue his four year-old son from death in Lake Monona proved vain when the child was pronounced dead after physicians at General hospital had worked over him for an hour and a half yesterday afternoon. Hopes of reviving life were abandoned at 5:30 p. m.

Robert, the drowned boy, had gone to Brittingham park with his mother and three of his five brothers. The mother left the park with two of the lads and instructed Thomas, 6, to bring Robert home.

As she arrived, she was overtaken by Thomas, who cried that his brother had fallen into the lake near the pumping station. She called her husband, who was working near the house.

Dashing to the shore 200 yards distant, the frantic father plunged into the water, and groped about until he found the body of his son. He lifted him from the water and bore him to an automobile which carried him to the hospital. Efforts to restore life by artificial breathing were unsuccessful.

The body was taken to the Schroeder undertaking parlors, pending funeral arrangements.

Senator Huber last session sponsored a bill identical to the one he proposes to introduce in the coming session, which provides that employers are to be liable for unemployment of their workers to the maximum extent of $1 a day for 13 weeks. His measure was killed in the senate by a small majority in 1921.

"Through operation of a law such as I propose, means would be provided to assure all who desire to work the right to employment without continual fear of the loss of a job," Senator Huber said. Labor unions throughout the state are uniting in support of the Huber bill.

Under provisions of the bill, any employment of a established industry, whose earning capacity is not more than $1,500 annually, and who has worked for a company at least six months, laid off by the concern, would receive $1 a day for 13 weeks. Employees on farms, or in purely seasonal occupations would not come under provisions of the statute.

"The insurance would be maintained by an employers' mutual liability company," Senator Huber said. "Administration of the whole law would be carried through machinery of the industrial commission and would not cost tax payers a single cent."

Professor John B. Commons, well-known university of Wisconsin economist, drew the law which Senator Huber is sponsoring. He is expected to urge its passage before the legislature at the coming session.

Senator Huber last session sponsored a bill identical to the one he proposes to introduce in the coming session, which provides that employers are to be liable for unemployment of their workers to the maximum extent of $1 a day for 13 weeks. His measure was killed in the senate by a small majority in 1921.

"Through operation of a law such as I propose, means would be provided to assure all who desire to work the right to employment without continual fear of the loss of a job," Senator Huber said. Labor unions throughout the state are uniting in support of the Huber bill.

Plan To Rush Unemployment Insurance Bill

Progressives to Back Huber Measure in 1923 Legislature

Workmen's unemployment insurance will be added to the list of legislative accomplishments in which Wisconsin has led the nation, if concerted action on the part of La Follette Progressive members of the state legislature support passage of the unemployment insurance bill he will introduce, Senator Henry A. Huber said today.

Senator Huber last session sponsored a bill identical to the one he proposes to introduce in the coming session, which provides that employers are to be liable for unemployment of their workers to the maximum extent of $1 a day for 13 weeks. Studebaker

Let Us Show You the Difference!

Vibration is destructive. It shortens the life of a car. It takes the pleasure out of riding because it causes rattles, squeals and other irritating noises.

Vibration is particularly annoying in closed cars.

There is no perceptible period of vibration in the Studebaker Light-Six at any speed. This is due in part to Studebaker's method of machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. No other car, at anywhere near the price, follows this practice.

Lack of vibration and the quiet, smooth-running motor find quick approval from everyone who rides in the Light-Six Sedan.

And every driver is similarly enthusiastic over the way it throttles down to a walking gait in high gear—and the quick response that follows the touch of the accelerator.

Aside from its mechanical excellence, the Light-Six Sedan is notable for its sterling coach work. The substantial body, like the chassis, is built complete in Studebaker plants. Materials and workmanship are of highest grade.

Long, semi-elliptic springs and deep, restful, nine-inch cushions afford genuine comfort. Upholstery is of a rich, mohair velvet plush—good-looking and durable.

Today's price is the lowest at which the Light-Six Sedan has ever been sold. The name Studebaker on your car is the best protection you can have!

G.O.P. of Iowa Bolt; Declare Brookhart Red

Delegates at Rebel Meeting Swing Support to Democrat

DES MOINES, Ia.—Resolutions were passed at a meeting of 200 Iowa republicans here Tuesday afternoon denouncing Smith W. Brookhart, republican candidate for United States senator, and pledging support to Clyde L. Herring, democratic candidate.

Born amid loud shouts of warning against the imprints of socialism, the bolt from the dignity of Brookhart reached the dignity of a statewide movement.

An executive committee composed of leaders in the 11 congressional districts of the state was appointed with power to organize precinct committees to bring about Brookhart's defeat. W. H. Powell, editor of the Ottumwa Courier, was named chairman of this committee.

The bolting republicans, including seven women, representing practically all districts of the state, heard Col. Brookhart denounced as "a dangerous radical," who would nationalize railroads, banks and farms and turn the republican party over to the radicals, with whom he was charged with having met in Chicago last February.

BROOKHART NOT ALARMED. SHELL ROCK, Ia.—Smith W. Brookhart, in a speech here Tuesday night, declared that the bolters' convention in Des Moines represented not one but themselves and invited them to do their worst.

"They are not afraid of me as a socialist. They are afraid because they know that I represent the common people of Iowa. They are not concerned so much about the protection about private property as they are about protecting the graft of the public utilities."

Wise Women

A famous medical man of ancient times states regarding his writings that they were but a collection of knowledge obtained from the "Wise Women."

Do you realize that in those times the women, and not the men, knew about the healing properties of medicinal plants, roots and herbs? From the earliest times, women had a knowledge of the treatment of disease and of the healing merit of roots and herbs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable

Compound was originated by a woman, Lydia E. Pinkham, and is now known and praised by women of all ages. It is prepared from roots and herbs having medicinal action of great value in the treatment of troubles women so often have.—Adv.

Time to Face the Facts

"So much has been said against the use of patent medicines that I have had a strong prejudice against them. But after four years doctoring with six different doctors, without results, for acute indigestion, gastritis, constipation, appendicitis and other ailments, I was said to possess. I was encouraged to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, seeing what it had done for a friend similarly afflicted. I also was entirely relieved of my trouble, and am sure this medicine will do all and more than is claimed for it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince of money refunded. For sale at all druggists.—Adv.

Urge Bettering Of Vocational School Work

Would Create Advisory Committee to Raise Standards
Creation of an advisory committee on vocational school teachers standards empowered to establish standards of qualification for instructors, is proposed by Dr. E. A. Fitzpatrick and Jennie McMullin Turner, of the state board of education, in a bulletin issued today. They would cooperate with the state board of vocational education should be composed of representatives of continuation school teachers, directors and local board members of all vocational schools of the state. Some action is necessary to improve the standard of teachers of certain subjects in Wisconsin's vocational schools, the bulletin says. Recommendation is made that all teachers in continuation schools should have had some industrial experience, and that every teacher have had a broad general education. "We might say that we believe that by 1924 the equivalent of high school education at least, should be set up as desirable for every beginning teacher of trade and industrial subjects. This minimum should be extended as conditions warrant to include work of college grade." Suggestions for salary schedules for Wisconsin continuation schools include a proposal for a minimum wage for beginning teachers, for extra compensation for every year of industrial or teaching experience above the required minimum, and an adequate teachers' pension.

The Ways of A Widow

By Grace Phelps

THE NEW SHOP CAUSES GOSSIP

"Where there's a widow, there's a man behind her."

It was the second meeting of the sewing circle since Nan Murray had returned and though Nan had accepted the invitation to join them, she had not yet put in an appearance. Ethel Grant had taken advantage of her absence to make the aforesaid remark with no little acerbity in her voice.

"The remark sounds scriptural," Elsie Freeman looked up from her darning with a gleam of humor in her eyes. "I can't place it exactly but I'm afraid, Ethel, you are growing sacrilegious!"

Ethel was not particularly strong on repartee so she could only dart a resentful glance at the other. Helen Davenport laughed.

"I suppose you mean Mrs. Murray. Ever since my husband rented her the old Deal place the men have been thick as flies down there, giving advice and chiding on the workmen. I counted five yesterday when I stopped for Henry."

There was no malice in her voice but a close observer might have remarked a degree of mischief that may have been directed at the susceptibility of the masculine element of Greenbrier or perhaps at Ethel's patent jealousy.

Apparently Ethel decided it was directed at her for she turned on Mrs. Davenport with a remark that might have ranked had it not been for the latter's sense of humor.

"O, Henry is as bad as the rest," she said cheerfully. "He always falls for every pretty woman he meets. But then I retaliate sometimes. Why don't you try that on Bob? I noticed him there yesterday."

Ethel was furious.

"He was there simply on business! Since your husband has the house in charge, you ought to know that."

"They all have business there!"

A newcomer created a diversion at the moment and under cover of the confusion and readjustment of chairs, Elsie found an opportunity to say in a low voice:

"For heaven's sake, don't get stirred up about Nan any more than she is already! She has had her knife out for her ever since the poor girl came back!"

"But she's so transparent," Mrs. Davenport returned with a chuckle. "It's such fun to tease her!"

"Well, don't forget I warned you! She is likely to include you in her unity if you keep it up."

True to his threat, Ethel, Bob Grant had gone about deliberately removing his friendship with Nan. Until her return he had not realized how much in need he had of sympathetic companionship to offset the curping criticism that Ethel gave him. There was something so straightforward about Nan, so absolutely fair and aboveboard, that attracted him. She met him as an equal, not as a tyrant.

There was a supplant, which attitudes had come unconsciously to associate with women. If they didn't attempt to rule men by force they did it in a subtler way by assuming an inferiority they did not feel.

Nan was different. At the moment his wife was discussing Nan, Bob was standing beside her in front of the Deal place. "My, but I'm hot," Nan was saying. "I wish you'd suggest some nice breezy place where I could go and cool off!"

Bed-time Stories

UNCLE WIGGLY AND SUSIE'S CABBAGE

Susie Littletail, the jolly rabbit girl, hopped out of her house and started across the field, stopping now and then to nibble a bit of clover.

"Oh, Susie!" called her mother standing on the rear porch. "Oh, Susie girl!"

"Yes, Mother! What is it?" answered Susie.

"Please go to the store and get me a large head of cabbage!" requested the rabbit lady. "I want to make your father a cabbage pie for his supper. Get a large head, Susie."

"Yes, Mother, I will," she answered, and then she hopped on again, not eating so many clover leaves, for she had had all she wanted.

As Susie was hopping along, all of a sudden she heard a rustling in the bushes.

"Oh, dear me!" cried Susie. "What's that? Is it the Wozzie Wolf or the Fuzzy Fox?"

"Don't be afraid, Susie!" laughed a jolly voice. "It is neither the Wolf nor the Fox!" And out popped Uncle Wiggly!

"Oh, I'm so glad!" laughed the little rabbit girl. "I must get mother a large head of cabbage. I'm so afraid something may happen to it, as happened to Sammie's carrot!"

"Nonsense!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "Don't cross a bridge before you come to it, Susie."

"Why, there isn't any bridge to cross at all!" exclaimed the bunny child wonderingly. "The road to the store goes straight on—there isn't any bridge at all!"

Uncle Wiggly began to laugh. "Oh, I see what you mean," exclaimed Susie. "You mean for me not to worry and look for trouble about my cabbage before I get it!"

Uncle Wiggly hopped with Susie, and soon they were at the cabbage store. Susie bought the largest head of cabbage, that was to be had, and the monkey storekeeper gentleman put it in a bag for the little bunny child.

"Oh, it's very heavy!" murmured Susie, as she tried to lift it. "I'm afraid it's too heavy for me, Uncle Wiggly!"

"If it is I'll help you," offered the bunny gentleman. "But try once more, Susie. Don't give up after the first try."

So Susie tried again, and she found she could lift the cabbage. It was not easy, but Susie wasn't going to give up, even if the cabbage should burst out of the bag.

"I'll help you, Susie. If it gets too heavy for her," thought Uncle Wiggly, as he hopped along beside Susie, who carried the cabbage.

It was all right along the level places, where there were no hills. But when Susie started up hill with the cabbage, she began to puff and to grunt and her little pink nose twinkled so fast that Uncle Wiggly said:

"I'll help you, Susie. You are very brave, not to give up, but don't make your paws too tired. I'll help you up the hill!"

Susie was glad of this, for she was tired, though she had made up her mind not to say so. Finally the top of the hill was reached. The other side went down, which is the way of all hills, you know.

Susie wrapped the cabbage well in the bag and gave it a little push. Down the hill it went as nicely as you please, faster and faster going bumpy-bump.

And half way down the hill the Bob Cat rushed out, thinking the cabbage was Uncle Wiggly rolling down hill. But it wasn't—it was the cabbage. And the cabbage hit the Bob Cat on his nose and made him cry: "Woochie! Ouchie! Wow!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Susie. Then she ran to the bottom of the hill, picked up the cabbage and carried it home. And Mrs. Littletail made cabbage pie and gave Uncle Wiggly some.

POPPIES

If you would go to Italy or France in May or June, you would find the grain fields aflame with red poppies. In Europe the poppy is classed as a weed, but yet in this country we gladly cultivate it. Poppies are very easy to draw and make a very beautiful picture when colored with your water colors or crayons.

Heart and Home Problems

Few Do More Harm Than Unoccupied Neighbors

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I know a certain woman who needs some advice it seems to me. About four years ago a young man about five years younger than she is, started going to her home. Her husband seemed to like him and the two men worked together on the husband's automobile and then all of them went picknicking together. They have two daughters who are almost grown-up.

It seems to me the young man is altogether too much interested in the wife. The young man drives the wife and two girls to church in the husband's automobile and then all of them went picknicking together. They have two daughters who are almost grown-up.

I am not the only one who has noticed this. Other people have begun to talk. Recently when the young man had a birthday, she gave a party for him and I happened to be one of the guests.

What do you think I ought to do in this matter? Do you think it would be a kindness to speak to my friend and tell her that her conduct is under observation, and is causing talk?

Why are people so willing to think the worst? My advice is to mind your own business and if you are a friend, as you profess to be, to stand up for the woman and to refuse to listen to gossip which says that the young man is anything but a friend of the family's.

You may be sure that if wrong existed the husband would not be so complacent and the young man would not be so open in his relationship with the woman. For all you know he may like one of the girls. I can't see the least thing wrong in a birthday party which she gave for him. His intimacy in the family would make such an occasion perfectly natural.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am the mother of a seventeen year old boy. He is our only child and so you can imagine my pride in him and my hopes for his future. He has always done very well in school and until now has been obedient at home. But now there is a girl at school who has captivated him until he doesn't know anything else. The worst of it is that she is a bobbed-haired short-skirted little thing who doesn't seem to have a thing in her head except her flirtation with my son.

He thinks he is going to marry her when they are old enough and I am sure the two of them make love and talk of nothing but marriage. I have forbidden him to see her, but he says I cannot stop him and if I try he will run away.

I am desperate and don't know what I am to do to break up this love affair which I am sure is not the thing for him. Please help me.

ANXIOUS MOTHER

When it is evident that opposition fails, it is wise to oppose no longer. I believe you will gain more by cooperating with your son in his love affair. Let him bring the girl to your home for dinner occasionally. When he feels that he has your sympathy he will be far more willing to obey you. I would suggest that you let him have two or three nights a week to call on his girl, and then request him to stay at home and study the other nights. If you talk to him in the right way he will realize that if he is going to amount to much in life and be a successful husband, he will need all the education he can get. This love affair can serve as an inspiration to spur him on to greater effort.

Billy Whiskers

By Frances Tregea Montgomery

"How much do you think the ducks will be?" Mrs. Bromley asked. "I am sure I don't know, but if you will give me five dollars, I will bring home the change."

"Good-by! Good-by!" called the boys as they ran off, waving their caps, to get Billy.

"Oh, Mrs. Ward, can we take Teddy with us for a run? He wants to go, and we are only going about two miles down the river road."

"Yes, if you don't throw him in the water. When he goes in, he dries things up so."

For a wonder, Billy Whiskers went fine and seemed to enjoy trying to race with Teddy, who ran ahead, barking at him.

Through the town, up hill and down, along the river road drove the boys until they came in sight of Mrs. Barker's house, and they saw her standing in her back yard with a pan in her hand. She had evidently just returned from feeding her ducks.

Her back yard was rather steep running down to the river, and she had a fence extending out into the water so the ducks could swim there and not get out and float downstream and be stolen.

"Just hear them squawking and quacking," said Johnnie. And just then they came in sight of the yard and Johnnie saw the duck with the topknot leading a flock of ducks up from the river to their house.

"Isn't he a beauty, with his dandy topknot and yellow bill and curly tail?" he asked. (Tomorrow's story will tell what frank Billy finally played.)

Three Named Secretaries Of Luther Church

Plan New Method For Handling Student Work Here

The student association of the Luther Memorial church has instituted a new arrangement to handle the position of student secretary of the church, left vacant by Miss Marion Neprud, who has sailed for China to visit her brother.

A board of three secretaries, composed of Mrs. W. H. Brown, Madison; Miss Lulu Staud, Wall Lake, Ia.; and Wilber Wittenburg, Milwaukee, now administers the office.

The office of the association here in Madison, according to members, has been designated by the national board of education of the United Lutheran church, with headquarters in Philadelphia, as the head office of all the colleges, normal schools, and universities in Wisconsin.

The association is at present drafting its program for the year. The most immediate project to be fulfilled is the student campaign for the new church office. Mr. Wittenburg is chairman of the student forces, and is now organizing a staff of 100 students. The student objective will be to secure $10,000 with which to furnish the church organ.

Nita Naldi-Called 'The Exotic' Discovery of Barrymore Now at Majestic

TWO years ago Nita Naldi, who plays at the Majestic this week and who recently signed a five-year contract to appear in Paramount pictures, was not known in motion pictures. Today she is probably one of the best known women on the screen as the result of her excellent work as Donna Sol in Rodolph Valentino's first starring picture, "Blood and Sand."

Her entrance in motion pictures work all happened by chance. It was during the filming of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" at the Fifty-sixth street studio of Famous Players, Director John S. Robertson needed some one to do a Spanish dance in the picture, and one night he had John Barrymore attend the performance of the Century roof show in New York. When Nita Naldi, then a member of the Shubert chorus, came on the stage Barrymore turned to Robertson and said:

"There's the girl we want. The exotic one third from the left end."

Miss Naldi was sent for, and she made her debut on the screen in the picture with Barrymore. Since then she has been playing in pictures occasionally, having played the role of Passion in George Fitzmaurice's production of "Exquisite." Her big chance came in "Blood and Sand" and she made the best of it. She is at present appearing with Alice Brady in MAE MURRAY CLOSING RUN.

MAE MURRAY and Mento Blue will be seen at the Parkway on "Broadway Rose" for the last times today and tomorrow.

Friday night only the first musical comedy of the season "FOR SHIREEN TO STAY FOR WEEK."

A remarkable young woman is "Shireen," the X-Ray Girl appearing at the Orpheum this week. She is not a code-worker or a mind reader, but a phenomenon unexplainable. While slightly blindfolded she goes through the audience, detecting persons and their actions. Working unassisted and with great speed, it is no wonder that the "Shireen" leaves her audience spellbound at the end of her act. Chuck-

U.W. Senate To Fix Election Date

The fall election date will be set tonight when the Student Senate meets in room 1 of the Law building at 7:15 o'clock to discuss all phases of the coming student elections.

The election date probably will be Friday, Nov. 3, according to the election committee comprising Senators Maynard Brown '23, Horace Powell '23 and Ralph Axley '23. Two more senators will be added to the election committee. They will be elected tonight.

Election Senate by Colleges

Members of the senate will be elected for the first time from the various colleges, according to the provision made by last year's referendum vote on elections. Brown said last night.

One junior and one senior will be elected to the senate from the Colleges of Letters and Science, Agriculture, Engineering, and from the Commerce school. The Medical and Law schools are also to be represented on the body by one man, and a graduate student will be elected to the senate by the school at large. The freshman class is to be represented by its president so that, according to the new regulations, the sophomores will be the only class not represented on the student senate.

$12,000,000 On Hand In State Treasury

Receipts for Month Total 4,331,498 Says Johnson

The state had $12,421,210 on hand in its various funds, October 1, Henry Johnson, state treasurer reported today. Of this amount $9,380,543 was in the general fund for payment of highway expenses and general administrative costs.

During the past month $3,923,827 was added to the general fund from railway taxes and automobile license fee payments, while disbursements totaled $2,978,571, most of which were to meet expenditures for highway construction and maintenance.

There is at present $926,225 in the service recognition fund out of which costs involved in building the Wisconsin general hospital at the university are to be met. Receipts in this fund amounted to but $516 for the month, while disbursements totaled $22,083.

The educational bonus fund now amounts to $386,620. Disbursements from the fund during the past month were $28,426 and receipts $321. The smaller receipts in both the educational bonus fund and the service recognition fund from which cash bonuses were paid to soldiers, indicate that the tax commission investigators reported a negligible amount of unpaid back taxes during the month.

Receipts for the state insurance fund, carrying life insurance policies on state employees, amounted to $12,450 for the month with expenditures of $309. The fund has a balance of $211,145.

The teachers retirement fund showed receipts of $133,905, disbursements of $118,498 and a balance of $213,905, and the university fund income receipts for the month were $136,346, its disbursements $255,617 and its balance $248,216.

Total receipts in all funds for the month were $4,331,498 and total disbursements $3,277,383.

JUDGE HOPPMANN LAUDS ORPHEUM

Judge Hoppmann in a letter to the Orpheum theatre says as follows:

"Mrs. Hoppmann and I have attended the Orpheum theater in this city almost weekly since the opening in 1911 and are still keeping up that record. While we have felt that at times certain acts contributed nothing to the entertainment and probably served only to mar the balance of the program yet as a whole we have always considered that we were well entertained and have often wondered on the possibility of giving the public such excellent entertainment at such reasonable prices. The Orpheum has won and now occupies a permanent seat at our table for the family entertainment. The Orpheum has won its niche in the progress of Madison and is treated by a vast number of its inhabitants as a necessary weekly diversion.

"This letter would not be complete if I did not pay a deserving tribute to the unfailing courtesy of the different managers and the permanent and efficient service rendered by all the employees who come in contact with the public. Very respectfully, August C. Hoppmann.

Build Office For Tobacco Pool Is Plan

Will Occupy Continued Building During Winter Months

Plans for erecting a large office building in Madison to house the headquarters of the Northern Wisconsin Tobacco pool were discussed this afternoon by the executive board of the organization. The building will be erected in the spring, it is understood.

The pool will be temporarily located on the fourth floor of the Cantwell building, in the offices formerly occupied by Frank Cannon, secretary of the Good Roads association.

New Buildings In University Quarter

Several new buildings have been erected and are under construction along University avenue and students familiar with the avenue last spring are noticing the change.

The Lutheran Memorial Foundation building, which is being erected across the Lathrop at a cost of $150,000 is the largest and most pretentious of the new buildings.

A new restaurant, the College Inn, is being built at the corner of Charter street and University avenue. Mr. A. F. Rissing, the proprietor, expects to open the place within the next two weeks.

The new double building being erected at 727 West University avenue, will be occupied by a tea room and clothes shop. Both will be under the management of Mr. G. W. Wier, who expects to be open for business on November 1. Additional buildings already open are the Schmidt Hardware company and the Payson Plumbing shop across the avenue from the University post office. The Metz Tailoring company and the Toggery shop, also new houses, were open when school started.

You Should Be the Same

A LARGE number of women's ailments are not surgical ones. Serious displacements or radical changes have not yet taken place.

A tiny part in a fine clock may become loose and cause the clock to gain or lose. If not attended to in time, the part may fall from its place and cause serious trouble. So it is with women's ailments, they start from simple causes; but if allowed to continue, produce serious conditions.

When the warning symptoms are first noted, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present troublesome ailment, and to prevent the development of serious trouble.

Portland, Ind.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting us and she said her girls took Lydia E. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial."—STELLA NEWTON, R. R. No. 8, Portland, Ind.

Madison Boys Entered in Motorcycle Races at Sun Prairie; To Have 5 Events

A NUMBER of local motorcycle riders are expected to participate in Sun Prairie's free-for-all, free-of-charge motorcycle racing program to be held at Sun Prairie's Angell Park dirt track Sunday afternoon. Among the Madison boys now entered in the racing program are: Ward Montgomery, F. Don-sleskidi, Richard Evans and Joe Katz. Katz won the cup two years ago and will attempt to retain it in the races Sunday.

The object of the races is to revive interest in motorcycle competition and to settle the supremacy in this part of the state. A number of young riders have been aching for a chance to get on the track and try their hand at the game and are being given an opportunity by Joe Komer and Robert Miller, men who have arranged the program.

Riders from Baraboo, Sauk City, Madison, Edgerton and other communities in this vicinity are expected to take part in the races. The events will be a five mile and a half mile race with regulation machines and a five mile race with modified machines. The feature of the day will be a half mile championship contest. A one mile time trial has also been added to the program. A gift certificate will be given to the winner of the championship race.

VARSITY CREW IS MADE STRONG BY SEVEN VETERANS

Coach Vail Has High Hopes; Captain Platten is Optimistic

With the majority of last year's team back in their regular positions in the Varsity shells, Coach "Bud" Vail is hoping to develop a winning crew this year.

Two crews have been rowing the Madison course every day. Outdoors rowing will continue as long as the weather permits, says Coach Vail.

Captain Arthur Platten was optimistic concerning 1922 prospects when interviewed last night.

Platten is temporarily training the crew on account of injuries to the last stroke of 1922, who is not out this year, is supplanted by Jones formerly on the second crew.

The present lineup as follows: Smith, Turner, Kinscomb, Platten, Rogers, Johnson, Newcomb, Taylor, Jones, and Platten. Coach Vail is directing the crews from the new LaSalle speedily life saving boat.

SWIM TEAM MOVES INTO FIRST ACTION

The first step in preparation for the coming swimming season was taken last night by Coach Steinhilber at a meeting held in Lathrop hall where middle distance swimmers and their first strenuous workout in Lathrop swimming pool.

Thirty-five men reported for the first swimming squad and prospects seem favorable for a very successful season although the loss of Campbell, Davies, and Captain Colman, swimmers of last year's team will be felt severely.

Coach Steinhilber plans to hold practice every Tuesday and Thursday morning in Lathrop pool until the swimming season opens.

Varsity divers are practicing every Thursday evening at Lathrop tank. Plungers are practicing at 7:30. Frosh swimming will start in two or three weeks.

CAN THEY SOLVE THE YANKEE PITCHERS AND SLUGGERS?

The Giants' strategy board. Hughie Jennings, left; John McGraw, center, and Cozy Dolan, snapped in session at the Polo Grounds.

Roundy Says

The World's Series Is In Our Midst And Bank Rolls Will Change Hands

The World series is now in our midst and many a bank roll will change hands. The Yankees are the favorites to win hands down and go as far as to make a bet of it. An odd bet on a world series. I tell you people, a "trick" that one gambler is staging. Nothing but the wildest of insane men would take stock in that talk. All World series and big league ball games are an even bet—all the time.

The Yankees are far stronger in his series than they were last time, that the baseball world knows, the $ sign is more important on that team than real team work. The case of player Dugan gives the strength of a $ sign in a New York team. It goes for the Giants as well as the Yankees, but the Yankees have a big edge this year on buying the pennant.

Here are two girls who go to high school and are out to see the high school practice every night. They went so far as to buy two megaphones to yell peppy words to the team while on the field. Their names are Marion Krug and Irene Neubeck. The other girls at the high school should follow these two pretty girls' example of "loyalty."

You will see the Giants play all their offense right to the right field and Ward is the weak sister in this Yankee make-up and take my tip, folks. Ward will have to be in a playing mood as he will be one busy boy. They will go as far as to play all units at his direction, also, and get him in all plays they can.

You would think that when "Bull" Joe Bush steps on the mound that the Giants will all get down on their knees and pray for mercy of Joe. I for one, know that Bush will have trouble with this Giant gang. They will make him pitch. There is not a bad ball hitter on the Giant roster, and Bush with his fast ball had all the American league batters jumping back from the plate last fast this season. Sanchez, Groh, Young and Frisch will hug that plate and make Joe get them over or else walk many a Giant batter.

On paper the Giants' pitchers look awful weak compared to the Yankees' moundmen, and no doubt the Yankees will be a stronger team on the mound by a large margin. But the Giants won the flag in a walk while the Yankees had to hustle till the last day—that alone shows you that there must be something strong in the Giant make-up somewhere.

You hear so much about Schang as a catcher and no doubt he has the stuff to be a star and no doubt is a star—but Snyder, the Giants' catcher, I tell you folks, is his equal in all departments of the game. There will be no wild base running on Snyder while Schang in a pinch is generally there with a bad play.

You hear where the addition of Witt is making the Yankees a great team and what a great player he is. Well then, Stengel of the Giants must have done wonders for the Giants as he has it all over Witt—every department of the game, except on the bags. Watch this old boy Stengel in this World series.

And do not forget to watch this bird, Ryan, and McQuillan, in this series. If they pitch for the Giants they are far from looking like suckers, as the dovesters have it looking to you.

Hugh Fullerton, the great dovester of the Tribune, says he cannot see how the Giants can win a game on paper. The dope sheets that way and the Yankees' pitchers look awfully good—but take my tip, this hit and run play of the Giants might break through Ward and if it does, goodnight. I have it from a man on the Giant team that it is where the attack will be shot at.

Schinnery, my pal, is still on the Giants. He was recalled from Toledo soon after the Giants sent him there in September, and has been in the last bunch of games and has been getting his one and two hits day. He said that he is feeling lots better. He was hit with a bean ball by a Philie pitcher this summer. The stunt just took him right out of the line-up and made him look bad for a while.

Harry Leonard of the Big Drug store on State st. hawks me out to a large extent. He says: where is your baseball column saying the students are coming in his store and wanting to see what "Roundy Says" about the west in the old game. Harry wants to get a little dope. Get the drift? He won a big bet last year on my hunch and showed he was a good fellow. He said to me, Come in I want to treat you. He then lays a five cent drink of coke on the fountain.

Here are two girls who go to high school and are out to see the high school practice every night. They went so far as to buy two megaphones to yell peppy words to the team while on the field. Their names are Marion Krug and Irene Neubeck. The other girls at the high school should follow these two pretty girls' example of "loyalty."

John Richards tells a certain fellow that Bob Burdick writes my stuff for this column—so I will let the world know what John thinks about it. So then let Richards tell the world who lost the "key to the bag of tricks" at the Chicago game last year. I thought they fell off the train, but late reports are Bob Duncan lost the key to the bag.

Reports are that Richards will have a poor line this year. Foolish talk, folks. Did you ever hear Richards with a "poor line." I will tell the world he has a good line.

The Chicago football team this year will just play one game away from Chicago and that will be at Ohio State. It simply goes to show you that Coach Willie of Ohio must be a "rummy."

I suppose if Staggy don't ask us to come down to Chicago for five years straight to play football when the contract runs out—then we will ask Wisconsin for enough money to build a new stadium for Chicago. At that, he has them buffaloed here, so chances are he would get his request.

South Dakota To Clash With Strong Nebraskan Gridders Next Saturday

LINCOLN, Neb.—With the invasion of the South Dakota eleven scheduled for Saturday, Head Coach Fred T. Dawson has worked his squad of Cornhusker varsity candidates through stiff practice every day on Nebraska field for more than a week. The Coyote clan from the north has a two weeks' advantage on the Huskers in respect to practice and Dawson in a bare three weeks rounded his men into shape for the first contest of the year.

While South Dakota is not blessed with an abundance of material in its varsity squad for 1922, the Coyote candidates know the fundamentals of football and are capable of giving the Huskers a hard contest.

'Pro' Charge Causes Bondi to Quit School

Received Menacing Letters From Minnesota; Directed "Y" Athletes

Classed as a "professional" because he received money while athletic director of the Du Pont Powder works, Y. M. C. A. at Washington, Wis., "Hobe" Bondi, candidate for halfback on the Wisconsin football team last night declared that he will not report for work with the Badger squad in the future.

"Hobe" directed Y. M. C. A. athletics in 1919, coached the Wash-fereeing high school basketball that he received $3 a game for refereeing high school basketball contests.

Received 2 Accusations Bondi recently was the recipient of two letters, one from St. Paul and one from a town in northern Wisconsin, which accused him of being a "professional." Bondi admits that he received money for his work.

"Go ahead and train," said one of the letters, according to "Hobe." "We'd like to have you in there, but you might as well quit the night before the Minnesota game."

When he received the missives, Bondi discontinued his drills at Camp Randall.

"I don't want to have Wisconsin under the same cloud of professional scandal that Illinois and Notre Dame were under," he said last night. "I will see Coaches Richards and Jones Wednesday afternoon and confer with them."

Bondi has been in Milwaukee during the past two days. He will leave shortly for New York and in four months will embark for Chicago where he is an agent of the Standard Oil company.

"Hobe's" return to the Wisconsin football squad was hailed with great rejoicings last week. Although not in good condition, he worked with the squad in several signal drills and was looked upon as a valuable addition.

Bondi played his last Big Ten football when he was halfback on the team which also boasted of Eber Simpson, quarterback, Allen Davey, halfback, Jacob, fullback, Weston and Kelley, ends, and O-ton Keyes, line-man.

ON PROBATION George Nyberg pleaded guilty to being drunk on a charge pending several months. He was placed on probation for six months.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Scrim-mages with the reserves, behind closed gates, have put the Yostmen on edge for the opening tilt of the year with Case, Saturday. Yost announced that the following men will probably open the contest: Kirk and Niesch or Henderson, ends; Muirhead and Vandervoort, tackles; Steele and Heath or Blott, guards; Slaughter, center; Uteritz, quarter-back; Kipke and Cappon, halves; Roby, full back.

At Iowa IOWA CITY, Ia. — With all the tentative first team except one man today began to resemble its original aspect. Scrimmage was withheld until after sunset because of the excessive heat. The varsity continued to display its superiority over any second string combination. Capt. Locke, although going easy because of his troublesome knees, gained much ground.

At Minnesota MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — The Minnesota first team experienced the first real hard workout of the season this afternoon against the second squad in a scrimmage on Northrup field. Mitchell, second string full back, tore big holes in the varsity lines in the scrimmage, but was finally put out of the play when he was kicked in the head and cut badly.

At Ohio COLUMBUS, O. — With the first game with Ohio Wesleyan in the Ohio stadium but four days off, Dr. J. W. Wilce introduced his varsity team to four intricate formations today.

First Cut in Football Squad at University is Made by Coach Richards

By BRYN GRIFFITHS THE first cut on the University of Wisconsin football squad this fall was felt by more than 10 aspirants for the Cardinal eleven Tuesday afternoon when the axe was wielded by Coach Richards. Men who have been cut from the varsity squad will hereafter report to Coach Guy Lowman for coaching so that Richards can devote his time to the 36 men now forming the first squad. A second cut will be made within the next 10 days, but it isn't known how many men will be shoved over to Lowman at that time.

Here Is List of University Football Men

FOLLOWING is an official list of University of Wisconsin grid men who are now on the Varsity squad following the cut made by coach John Richards on Tuesday night. Some of the players have not been issued Cardinal jerseys with numbers as yet but will get them before the season starts. The names and numbers will be published in the Capital Times as soon as they are issued. Clip this list and take it to practices and to games with you. The numbers will be the same all season.

"BEAT YALE!" IS CRY AT CARNEGIE AS TECH ELEVEN SWINGS INTO ACTION

Remarkable action note. J. Capt. Jimmy Anderson of Carnegie Tech.

Carnegie Tech's football eleven hopes to open its 1922 season with nothing less than a victory over the Bulldog. The Tech boys face Yale September 30 in the Yale bowl and hope to give the Bulldog his first setback.

Carnegie students and grads are looking to Capt. Jimmy Anderson to play a big part in the contest. Anderson was ranked as one of the leading players in the east last year. His punting was a feature of the team's games last fall and is expected to add power to Carnegie's defense and attack this fall.

"Watch Carnegie!" is the cry.

Cutting down of the squad is an indication that Richards intends to hustle matters along from now until Saturday—and a long time after. Carleton College, Minnesota, team comes here Saturday for the opening game of the season for the Badgers. This game will be the "acid test" for many prospective Cardinal warriors.

The team went through another fast scrimmage Tuesday afternoon, and forward passes which have been brought into action quite a bit of late, were again the feature of the program.

Gus Tebell and Irish, ends, grabbed off their share of passes hurled by "Shorty" Barr. It seems, the more Barr passes the pig-skin the better he throws it.

The forward wall, a big problem at the beginning of the year, is still causing worry on part of the coaches and much time is being spent by Richards in developing the line the way he wants. Although the line has made good progress, it is not on par with the backfield's advance during the past two weeks.

Until the wall is put in A-1 condition Richards won't be satisfied. Taft, playing at the fullback position Tuesday night sent some pretty punts down the field, and they were high and long enough to permit Irish and Tebell to get down

Highway Engineer Declares Dane County's Roads Are Deplorable

"Dane county, third largest in the state, ranks second in wealth, and with its splendid educational facilities, ought to be first in intelligence. Yet, despite profound proof of the value and necessity of good highways, Dane county has expended less per dollar of valuation on them than any other county in Wisconsin."

Thus declared J. T. Donaghy, maintenance engineer of the Wisconsin Highway commission, before the Roxana club at the Park hotel last night.

"And as for our own city," he further stated, "I cannot fathom its regrettable attitude. Madison has the finest location and endowments in the nation. She would like to be a great convention city. Yet she does not follow the successful methods of other progressive cities. There is not the aggressive go-getter spirit. A satisfied complacency obtains."

Fire Chief Charles W. Heyl spoke on fire prevention.

"Every single minute in the first eight months of this year $650 in property value was destroyed in the U. S., of which 65 per cent could have been prevented," he said. In 1921, there were 15,000 lives lost by fires.

Roundy and Bambino Are Bosses Today

A GREAT English editor, in an editorial in The Manchester Guardian, expressed amazement last week over the fact that England and France, seemingly on the precipice of a great war, had gone daffy over an ebony Sengalese gentleman from Africa named Siki. The perplexed editor of The Guardian couldn't understand why two nations, on the threshold of war, should forget such danger and turn in adulation to an individual about two degrees above an orang-outang.

Mr. Siki certainly did chase Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Poincare and Mr. Stinnes from the front pages in a hurry.

THE United States, in a measure, is on a Siki spree today. Strikes and lockouts, coal famines and tariffs, campaigns and primary elections, are forgotten as America turns its face to the scoreboard. The great Bambino and Bullet Joe Bush are today monopolizing the front page over Mr. Harding and the fezzed Mr. Kemal. The United States today has its eyes glued on the detailed play, anxiously awaiting to see whether the mighty Babe will lace the old pill over Coogan's Bluff. Telegraph copy about perfectly good wars will be chucked into the waste paper baskets in bales by news editors.

YES, the good old national game is a great thing. Nations, like individuals, would become rusty and crabby without recreation and diversion. Baseball has a hold on the American people akin to that of the circus. It is the great way in which America plays. Sure, old top, let's go and hear Roundy read the returns.

Cobb's Views

"I MEAN it when I say I believe that is going to do as much to teach one nation that another nation is made up of decent chaps and to cure them of their old rivalries and feuds and bitterness as any other agency on God's green footstool can ever hope to do." So says Irvin S. Cobb, noted writer. "And I believe, if, back in '61, the man who lived in Carolina could have stepped into his 'lizzie', turned on the gas, and cruised away to Vermont, and found that the people there were of his own flesh and blood, with much the same aspirations and ideals of decent and peaceful and orderly government, this country would never have been rent by the great Civil war."

IRVIN S. COBB

The War Graft

THE government paid 43.8 cents a pound for roast beef which was later sold to Philadelphia brokers for 1.6 cents; once in private hands, this beef went on the market at 9.1 cents a pound wholesale; but for the short time that the army was in the retail store business, it sold this same beef direct to the consumer for more than 31 cents a pound. Such was only one minor item in one sale. This charge was made public by American Legion officials at Washington in announcing that the American Legion Weekly next Friday, in an expose of war and postwar profiteering in meat, sugar and mosquito bars, will declare that official Washington is considering the replacement of incompetent men and the punishment of the dishonest. The article in the legion publication was written by Marquis James following weeks of investigation and says in part: "In a transaction between the Quartermaster Corps and Thomas Roberts & Co., brokers of Philadelphia, 5,630,466 pounds of roast beef which cost 43.8 cents per pound, was sold to net 600 per cent profit—the government standing the loss which amounted to $2,392,948.05. "One of the methods by which the government has sustained heavy losses is through sales to favored firms without competition by means of 'negotiated' or 'informal' bids. Many such corporations have been shoe string affairs in which former army officers and former employees of war department branches have been heavily interested. "Carpenter's conqueror is now reported seeking an engagement with Dempsey. Siki and ye shall find. "A pure water supply is THE most important question for the consideration of any city administration. "In nature's laboratory, most of the bacteria are assigned to the horticultural department, where organic substances are decomposed into plant food. "The foregoing is only a minor item in one sale to this fortunate Philadelphia firm. "The War Department, praising the superior sagacity of its former Director of Sales, E. C. Morse, twice indicted, calls his disposal of surplus meat 'a feat believed impossible.' "Why the Roberts transaction, which took place shortly after Mr. Morse's retirement from government service, and in which Mr. Morse's private business associates participated, was not altogether impossible is something that is hard to understand. "When the Armistice came, men began to sift back to the proper levels where normal standards obtained. In the sale of our army surplus property, a colossal business undertaking involving billions of dollars, no such reaction to normal is noted. There was no war. The emergency had passed. "There is Ernest C. Morse, during whose tenure as Assistant Director and Director of Sales the Government disposed of nearly a billion and three-quarter dollars' worth of materials, and we are informed by the War Department that the bulk of these sales were made under the direct supervision of Mr. Morse. What other merchant is there who in a year has done a billion-dollar business?"

State Press

The Christian Science Monitor has contributed recently a series of investigative articles on prohibition, of striking value and most conclusive. One cannot be impressed otherwise, after reading the array of facts and figures, the interviews with a wide range of people in every walk of life, than that prohibition is an extraordinary success in spite of the violations of the liquor traffic and the persistent propaganda of interests in attempts to discredit it—Janesville Gazette.

Socialism, Communism, Republicanism, Socialism. Bet you a cookie the talented and mild-mannered Eau Claire editor couldn't give a straight definition of any one of 'em.—Milwaukee Leader.

It has been finally decided by vote that the "ten greatest living Indians"—including five professional writers—are the following: Booth Tarkington, Elwood Haynes, Albert J. Beveridge, Judge Albert B. Anderson, George Ade, Thomas R. Marshall, Mrs. Gene Stratton Porter, Meredith Nicholson, Kin Hubbard and Dr. John N. Hurty.—Manitowish Herald News.

The voters of Wisconsin have spoken, emphatically. They want La Follette and all he stands for. They want beer and wine—and maybe more. Let 'em have their desires. All efforts made in the past to defeat this sort of radicalism appear to have been useless. Why not in the future let La Follette pick his servants as the servants of the people and let it go at that? The energy and expense, the lost friendships, the bitter feelings engendered by the kind of campaigns lately fought in Wisconsin are not repaid by the benefits.—Osseo News. Of course, The Osseo News isn't a bit peeved over the results of the primary!

Bob La Follette is being boomed for president in 1924 on the Republican ticket. Why not make the ticket Bob for president and Vice for vice president?—Chilton Times.

One of the blackest crimes in history is the destruction of Smyrna by the Turks and the slaughter of thousands of Christians. Bolshevik Russia and the fanatical Turk are running a neck-and-neck race.—Racine Journal News. What about the guilt of England which egged Greece on to start the whole dirty mess?

Henry Johnson has sent a letter to newspapers stating that he will not be an independent candidate for the office which he has so faithfully and efficiently filled for many years. He will go back to the farm in Oconto county—the farm he grubbed out of a wilderness and made worth while—and become a private citizen. Henry Johnson will be a good citizen in private life, as good a citizen as he has been a state treasurer. The aspirations cast by his opponent in the political race this summer were both unjust and uncalled for. They failed to register but for the general landslide Mr. Johnson would have been returned again to the office. If the successor gives the state as good an administration as Mr. Johnson, the people will ask for nothing better.—Janesville Gazette.

WAR PROFITEERING

Charges that the government lost millions of dollars through war and post-war profiteering in meat, sugar and mosquito bar and through sales to favored firms are made in a special article in the forthcoming issue of The American Legion Weekly, the Legion news service announces. The article is quoted in part as follows: "In a transaction between the Quartermaster Corps and Thomas Roberts & Co., brokers of Philadelphia, 5,630,466 pounds of roast beef which cost 43.8 cents per pound, was sold to net 600 per cent profit—the government standing the loss which amounted to $2,392,948.05. "In nature's laboratory, most of the bacteria are assigned to the horticultural department, where organic substances are decomposed into plant food. "The foregoing is only a minor item in

THE FRIENDLY WAY
Let me walk the friendly way
And bear what kindly people say;
Let me not miss the gentler things,
The song the morning robin sings,
My neighbor's smile, the maple tree
Which casts its shelter over me,
While I go seeking lustrous fame
And gaudy pleasures hard to claim.

Let me rejoice unto the end
In him who cares to be my friend;
Let me not draw distinction's line
Between those trusted hearts of mine,
And mark by caste or creed or clan
The honest worth of any man.
To those who love me I would cling
Despite the favor of a king.

The friendly way finds good in all,
The rich, the poor, the great, the small,
The toiler is as fine and true,
As good to know and cherish, too,
As is the man who walks in pride
With fame and glory at his side.
I would not spurn his friendly hand
With rulers of the world to stand.

Lord, teach me this: from day to day
To reap the joys along my way;
Let me not blindly fail to see
The beauty of each flower and tree,
Let me not lose the present hour
With all its charm, to fawn on power,
But firm and faithful let me be
To all who would be friends with me.

Talk of the Times
Windmills Come Back—Students Are Ambitious—Women For Preachers in Australia

THE Windmill, the time-honored source of power, is staging a comeback and there are more windmills on Minnesota farms today than ever before. So discloses a survey of sources of power on farms of the state.

Inexpensiveness of operation and greater efficiency without regard to the elements, are given by Prof. A. L. Tyler as the reason for the return of the old form of energy. The University of Minnesota has ordered wind electric plants of all known types for use in a test project to determine the efficiency of the windmill as a source of electric power.

FORTY percent of the student body of Washington University at St. Louis is either entirely or partially self-supporting, according to a survey made by the committee on recommendations of the school.

The committee also is making a canvass of all students of the university to learn what assistance is needed by students who wish part time employment. The committee is seeking positions for these students, in order to help them work their way through college if they wish.

An effort is being made to place women students in homes as companions, governesses or to do housework for their room and board.

THE old-time hammer and axe emergency kit in railroad cars, a familiar object to every railroad passenger, has outlived its usefulness. The new order is a compact, modern OLD KIT first aid kit to be installed in all IS OUT Pullman cars.

With the installation of these kits all employees of the company will be instructed in first aid. This instruction is now under way in the Chicago district.

"The first aid kits with which all Pullman cars soon will be equipped," said Dr. Thomas R. Crowder, director of sanitation and surgery of the company, "will contain two first aid packages, bandages and dressings, iodine swabs, and a small bottle of aromatic spirits of ammonia."

THE prospect of women preachers occupying pulpits in many New South Wales churches has arisen as the result of a proposal, which is to come before the next Anglican Provincial synod, that women be permitted to conduct church services.

CIGARETTE SMOKING HARMFUL TO WOMEN

The enormous increase of cigarette smoking among women, says the medical correspondent of the London Times, calls for some protest by the medical profession. He declares the habit in many instances is passing beyond a pleasure and becoming a vice. "The absorption of nicotine, which is the danger element in the matter," the correspondent proceeds, "produces a condition of nervous distress which is frequently painful to observe. From this proceed palpitations and exhaustion and outbursts of emotion. Woman's delicate nervous organism was certainly not intended to endure large doses of this poison. Her functions as a mother cannot but be interfered with when she indulges in it to excess. It is the habit of many English women and girls to smoke cigarettes in public and not a few may be seen in restaurants and hotels smoking long, slender pipes. Women's organizations and social improvement societies have begun a crusade against this 'intelligent and unwomanly practice.'"

Voice of the People
Woman Voices Grievances And Says That Women Should Demand Rights

[To the Editor]: I wish to thank Anne Martin for the article which appeared in The Capital Times for Sept. 23rd. It touches upon the real issue it seems to me. While the fight for woman's vote was on one could often read in the various papers articles about the social injustices that make married women—merely slaves and it sounded like all this would be adjusted automatically when women got the vote. Now we have the vote but are in precisely the same condition as before—minors, dependent, supported though we work 15 or more hours per day. I have often thought hard thoughts about our lawmakers I have thought they were like the unjust judge who didn't fear God nor regarded man. It is the way they show the husbands how they shall regard their wives' toil as nothing, to show the children how to despise their mother and all she has done for them. As a widow said: "One is nothing but a beggar while the husband lives, and after he is dead the law steps in and takes about everything from us, and the worst is we have no place to go, but must remain as a poor-house member in the home where we should have owned one-half if it was right."

Do you think they are sincere that boast of the great rights and freedom for women in this country? What can you take away from the so called rights of a married woman if she shall be permitted to live, to exist? What is the common sense or justice in overlooking mother's work in the home, and judge it of so little value that she don't even earn her board? If that isn't "contemptible" I don't know what should be. We must not think it is by chance that women are given such a place under our laws. "The law is the expression of the opinion of the people." But the people are the men, and it is important for them to keep women where they are and have been for ages—men's slaves and household drudges who for merely a living work like slaves without earning anything or owning anything. They are themselves only chattels. We read about proposed reforms and laws are enacted about everything under the sun, but if one expected they would pass a law that gave our mothers credit for their work in the home for husband and children you would be disappointed. It isn't touched upon with even a word, and women, ignorant of where they stand are like the Russian peasants when they were given freedom from slavery they asked: "What shall we do with Freedom?"

I have to see a farmer's wife who does not feel either indignant or discouraged when they learn how very humiliating their position is. For a man's name they have lost every human right and if the man is of a cold, stingy disposition his wife is in the worst slavery in the world.

Our legislature here in Wisconsin passed a so-called "Equal Rights Bill" last session, in that it also included "Freedom of Contract." That is, a wife can make a contract with her husband about the property, but of course it is left to the husband to refuse to make such a contract. Oh they must be careful and not go too near the rights of the slave-owners! But it seems to me they are contradicting themselves when they have let the same women that heretofore couldn't make a lawful contract with their husbands at the same time be guardians for their minor children. A minor be guardian for a minor. Oh but it comes handy to have a woman be of majority too. That there is much boasting over this right goes without saying. We need an Anne Martin in every district in every state of this country to arouse women to demand their rights as people that work as well as the men—yes work longer hours than their husbands, who should have equal share in everything there is accumulated not as an heir or a beggar but because she has toiled as well as the husband, and that work must be judged to be of equal value as the work of the husband.—Member of Progressive Women's Ass'n of Wisconsin.

THE WORD ORGANIZATION

[To the Editor]:—The ancient Greeks used the word "Organization" and defined it as an instrument, engine, machine or tool for making or moving anything. To the organized workers, organization means or is their instrument for insuring just dealings, lessening the hours of labor, better pay for labor performed, safe and decent sanitary conditions of labor. The economic organization of the worker is the engine for driving home the human rights of labor and protecting it against the profit-taking class. Therefore, organization is the working tool by which wages are increased, less working hours obtained and better and safer sanitary conditions of labor established. This tool—organization—will yet pry the locks from tyranny and oppression, and even force the courts to a sense of social responsibility.

The organized workers must realize that their human skill is no longer a mere cog in industry, a piece of mechanism to be battered for, used or discarded to suit the convenience for profit of some "Captain of Industry." But organization the workers assert and enforce their human interest, as against mere consideration of business profit. In other words, organization of the workers, fuses them into a compact body, conscious of common needs, aims, conflicts, and achievements. Therefore, organization is the only hope for the workers. Others may help the workers by their good will, counsels and their courage, but their real strength—as workers lies in combining their own numbers and forces. With organization, federation and harmonious co-operation all things are possible. Without it, nothing is obtainable. It is, therefore, the duty of the workers to organize, federate, educate and thereby establish a cohesive, unification of their forces, so that they may labor and live in freedom, and promote the general welfare of all the people.—Frank J. Weber, General Secretary, Federated Trades Council, Milwaukee.

THE SUBSIDIZED PRESS

The real issue confronting this nation today, is not in that question will Great Britain pay, its not in the tariff nor Esch-Cummins bill, Nor how we can capture the moonshiner still.

It's not in the bonus nor the ship subsidy, Nor the ocean route from the lakes to the sea, Not in the sales tax as some folks have said, Nor deporting a bunch of radical reds.

It's not in defense of the freedom of press, Nor the right to assemble, the right of redress, The freedom of speech we are talking about Is not the great issue that we must fight out.

There is one big issue above 'all the rest, The nation's worst menace, the subsidized press, That is the real issue that we have at hand, A subsidized press that poisons the land.

A subsidized press that will when it's told Defame a man's name for a handful of gold, A subsidized press with no freedom of choice, But like a whipped puppy obeys master's voice.

Like the potter is moulding his vessel of clay, The press of the land moulds opinion today, And the devil himself with all his pests, Would be safer today than a subsidized press.

Thanks to Wisconsin, her daughters and sons, In spite of that press got busy and won, And from the returns it's safe, friends, to guess Wisconsin don't trust the subsidized press. —Alex Wallace, Stevens Point, Wis.

MAIL CARRIERS, ATTENTION!

Courtesy in the discharge of his duties as a postman, an unexpected reward in at least one instance for Cecil Clyde Thompson. The will of Mrs. Sarah Rose Bryant, who lived in Terre Haute for seventy-five years, provided for more than $6,000 worth of bank stock for Mr. Thompson "for the many courtesies and attentions shown me by him during my lifetime." The postman had carried mail to Mrs. Bryant's home for fifteen years.

On the Side

NO, THANK YOU.
I wouldn't be a president,
I'm just a common job.
I couldn't be a president
And keep my present job.
I'd rather sit and criticize
And knock to beat the band
Than travel down to Washington
And rule this mighty land.
I'd rather sit and nurse my enemies
For modest gobs of wealth;
And smoke my pipe and dream my dreams
And keep my robust health.

Tenants in New York apartment house beg to restrain grand opera star from singing at 2 p. m. People enjoy opera more when they have to pay for it and can get up and leave when they wish.

An' wile I'm listin' I wish I was back on the street
Where Tony yanks his tunes out at a cent for a cent.
You don't know what it's all about when there "artists" brays.
But any one knows "Old Black Joe" the way that Tony plays.

I spends an hour in that dump; I'll tell that's enough,
An' then I crawls past people an' I says "Excuse me, please."
Bring in some friend to take my seat if he can stand this stuff.
I'm wise to somethin' better an' I'm gonna take the breeze."
Well, mebbe I'm a piker, but out to the street I ooze.
An' spends my jack with Tony hearin' the "Blue Danube Blues."

CONFESSIONS OF A CYNIC

I like boiled beef with horseradish, but don't care for chicken—in any form.
I don't believe women are dangerous if you don't take them seriously.
I believe a young man knows more than he knows in his later years. When he grows old he doesn't know. He guesses.
I have never planned a "career." I have never had time.
I believe every man has a right to his opinion when it agrees with mine, whereas, differ from nobody in particular in this world.
I believe the time is right for somebody to write a bedroom farce.
I seldom answer the telephone. I know from experience that if it is good news, the person wouldn't have been able to get my number.
I have been most embarrassed by the perfectly honest people than by the darnliars.
I believe the Japanese have too much sense ever to start a quarrel with this country.

AIR CRAFT SUCCESSFUL

The Aeromarine double daily flying boat service between Cleveland and Detroit, officially closed last month, this season carried 15 passengers. In addition, 2574 pounds of freight were transported. The service has two eleven passenger enclosed cabin aeromarine flying cruisers, making two flights daily. There were no forced landings, no accidents, and the boats flew on scheduled time, officially stated.

A DIVORCE MILL

This city counts a population of 50,000, 15,000 of them received decrees of divorce in the years 1920 and 1921. Divorce seems to be the most flourishing of the local industries. The reason is that the severance of the marital bond is easy here, and people desiring freedom flock to Fiume. Anyone can get a divorce in Fiume who has lived in the city long enough to acquire the rights of citizenship. Complications, however, occasionally arise. The case is still remembered of an Italian woman who acquired the citizenship of Fiume and divorced her husband, who remained an Italian subject. Shortly after her divorce she remarried and returned to Italy, where she was promptly imprisoned for bigamy, the Italian law considering her divorce null and void.

A stone carver was on the witness stand describing the way in which he had been assaulted by the defendant.
"He walked right into my yard and slammed me up against one of my tombstones," the witness said.
"Did he hurt you?" inquired the court.
"Hurt me?" roared the witness. "Why, I got 'Sacred to the Memory' stamped all over my back."

A new prison chaplain had just been appointed. He had big ideas as to the importance of his office. During his first round of inspection he entered one of the cells, and in a very polite manner said to the prisoner who occupied it, "Well, my man, do you know who I am?" "No, and I don't care," came the nonchalant reply.
"Well, I'm your new chaplain."
"Oh, you are?" said the man. "I have seen of you before."
"What did you hear?" inquired the chaplain, forgetting his dignity in his curiosity.
"Well, I heard that the last two churches I were in, you preached them both empty, but don't think you'll find it such an easy matter to do the same thing here."—Judge.

The meanest man on record is said to live in Shrewsbury, Mass. He sold his son-in-law one half of a cow, and then refused to give the milk, maintaining that he sold only the front half. The buyer was also required to feed the cow and carry water to her three times a day. Recently, the cow hooked the old man and now he is suing his son-in-law for damages.
